

An aerial photograph of a residential development site. The site is a large, roughly rectangular plot of land, outlined in a dark green border. Inside this plot, several rectangular lots are visible, colored in a reddish-brown hue. A central green area, consisting of a row of trees, runs through the middle of the site. The surrounding area includes a residential neighborhood with houses and a large green field to the right. Two white text boxes with black text are overlaid on the image, connected to the site by white lines.
